FOREIGN TRADE AND SHIPPING

[TABLES 1 TO 23, PAGES 3 TO 40]

These tables, which include imports and exports on account of the Government, exhibit, for various periods extending in many cases back to 1834-35, the progress of the foreign sea-borne trade of India generally, and of each province separately, in the principal articles of trade, and with the principal foreign countries; also the progress of shipping. They thus supplement the annual accounts of the foreign trade which exhibit the progress of the trade for only five years.

The following statement shows the rate of increase for the annual averages given in Table No. 1, the trade of the year 1834-35 being taken as 100 :—

MERCHANDISE MARKS

(Compiled from the provincial reports)

The Indian Merchandise Marks Act (IV of 1889) was passed in 1889, but its operation in the earlier years was restricted, especially in Calcutta, in consequence of the lack of adequate Customs machinery for the examination of goods. In 1894, with the introduction of the present tariff, the Customs staff was strengthened for the examination of goods for assessment to duty and this increase enabled examination to be made at the same time for the purposes of the Merchandise Marks Act.

The Act was intended originally to prevent the fraudulent sale of goods bearing false trade marks or false trade descriptions (as of origin, quality, weight, or quantity). While the Act was before the Legislature a provision was added to require that all piece goods should be stamped with their length in yards. In this respect these goods are an exception, for the Act does not require that other descriptions of goods should be stamped or marked, though it requires that when goods are marked the marks must be a correct description.

The whole number of detentions under the Act was :

Average of the five years ending	1894-95	1,095
" " " "	1899-1900	1,544
" " " "	1904-05	1,271
In the year	1905-06	1,046
" "	1906-07	1,125
" "	1907-08	1,483

Detention is but rarely followed by confiscation, and there have only been 117 such cases in the eighteen years. Usually detained goods are released with a fine, and this procedure was followed in 15,579 cases out of the 23,207 detentions ordered in the same period. In 7,491 cases the detained goods were released without the infliction of a fine.

In this period of eighteen years 47 per cent of the detentions were on account of the application of false trade marks or false trade descriptions. In 25 per cent of the cases detention was ordered because the country of origin was either not stated or falsely stated, and in 28 per cent because the provisions of the Act for the stamping of piece goods had been infringed.

In very few cases do the Customs officials receive information leading to detentions. Thus, in 1907–08, there were only eight such cases in the 1,483 detentions made in the year ; and in the preceding three years there were twenty-four detentions made on information received, namely, ten out of 1,325 cases in 1904–05, five out of 1,046 cases in 1905–06, and nine out of 1,125 cases in 1906–07.

FREIGHTS

(Compiled from the Prices Current of the Chambers of Commerce.)

The table has been constructed for the purpose of showing the course of freight charges since the opening of the Suez Canal, for the conveyance from India to the United Kingdom of the articles which comprise the great bulk of the export trade.

The figures represent the minimum rates in March of each year. The rates under Calcutta are quoted from the "Calcutta Price Current" of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, those under Bombay from the "Current Quotations" of the Bombay Chamber of Commerce for 1882 to 1906, and for earlier years from a statement received from the Secretary to the Chamber and those under Karáchi from the "Karáchi Price Current" of the Karáchi Chamber of Commerce. The rates for seeds from Bombay for the years 1872 to 1881 represent the lowest freight to Liverpool viâ the Cape, rates by Canal not being available. The following are the rates charged viâ Canal by P. and O. Company's steamers in those years for cotton and seeds :

1871	3 — —	1875	2 15 —	1879	1 15 —
1872	4 5 —	1876	3 — —	1880	2 12 6
1873	3 5 —	1877	2 7 6	1881	1 15 —
1874	3 — —	1878	2 5 —

There have been great fluctuations in freight rates, but taking the average of the last three decades, the general tendency has been in the downward direction. As the facilities for trade offered by the Canal made themselves more apparent from year to year, the stimulus to shipowners to build more vessels, specially adapted for canal traffic, became more accentuated, and increased competition for cargo was followed by a reduction in rates. Since 1895 freights have been on a permanently lower level and in the case of Bombay and Karáchi have never exceeded £1 per ton. Freights in 1908 were, as a whole, abnormally low.

WRECKS

(Figures supplied by the Port Officer and Registrar of Wrecks)

This table exhibits the number of British, British Indian, and native vessels which were totally lost in Indian waters (from Suez to Penang), the total tonnage of vessels wrecked, and the number of lives lost in the past twenty-five years.

The average number and tonnage of each class of vessels annually lost in the last ten years, and the proportion in the same period which the number and tonnage bear to the number of vessels that cleared from Indian ports, are approximately—

	No.	Tonnage	Proportion of no.	Proportion of tonnage
British :
Steam	3	2,988	0·13 per cent	0·1 per cent
Sailing	1	593	2 „	0·82 „
British Indian :
Sailing	33	1,466	6 „	2·41 „
Native craft	11	484	1·12 „	·78 „

37 vessels were totally lost in 1907, of which 4 were British, one foreign, 22 British Indian, and 10 native craft.

Exceptional loss of life in certain years is recorded in the table. The causes are stated below—

1876. 400 pilgrims perished in the Hydari, bound from Calcutta to Jeddah.

1879. Continuous bad weather, and a cyclone, on the west coast of India in May.

1885. The Speke Hall foundered (58 lives lost) in the Gulf of Aden; and three vessels were wrecked (239 lives lost) during cyclone in the Bay of Bengal and on the east coast of Arabia.

1887. The Sir John Lawrence foundered (750 lives lost) at the mouth of the Hooghly in a cyclone.

1888. The Vitarna (800 lives lost), wrecked off the Káthiawár coast in a cyclone.

1891. Four vessels were wrecked in a cyclone in the Bay of Bengal.

1892. The Deccan foundered (214 lives lost) in the Indian Ocean.

1896. The Luna was wrecked (75 lives lost) in the Gulf of Aden.

1902. The Camorta was wrecked (781 lives lost) on the Burma Coast.

1905. The Hashemi foundered (74 lives lost) off the south Orissa coast in a cyclone.

JOINT-STOCK COMPANIES

[TABLES NOS. 1 TO 7, PAGES 49 TO 63]

(Compiled from the provincial reports on the working of the Indian Companies Act, VI of 1882, the annual lists of joint-stock companies furnished by the Registrars, and special returns of companies with sterling capital received from the managers or agents, the Indian Tea Association, and the Railway Board)

Table Nos. 1 to 6 relate exclusively to joint-stock companies registered in India under the Indian Companies Act, VI of 1882. They do not include the numerous and large companies with sterling capital carrying on business in India but registered in England and having their head offices there. Those companies with sterling capital which work exclusively or almost so in India, are shewn in table No. 7. All the Companies registered in India have a rupee capital with the exception of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation which was registered in Calcutta in 1869 with a capital in Hongkong dollars of which the rupee equivalent is stated.

The total number of companies, which have been registered in India under the law from the time it was passed, amounts to 5,173. Of these, 2,061 were working at the end of 1907-08, most of the others having been either wound up or otherwise discontinued or never having commenced business, so that about 60 per cent of the companies started have been failures. The companies that have ceased to work include a number of speculative gold-mining companies formed in Bengal some years ago and a considerable number of "provident" associations formed in the last few years in the same province. Some companies have also been taken off the Indian register, to be reconstructed as companies under the English law with their head offices in London.

During the year 289 new companies with a nominal and paid-up capital of R15,80,70,348 and R69,34,672 respectively were registered, and 151 companies with a nominal and paid-up capital of R3,73,22,116 and R76,32,170 respectively ceased to work.

In 1907-08 there was a net increase of 139 in the number of companies, of R13,61,94,150 in the nominal capital and of R6,54,50,199 in the paid-up capital. The nominal capital of 58 companies was increased by R4,02,21,642 and the paid-up capital of 684 companies by R6,93,74,379. The nominal capital of 2 companies was reduced by R2,69,620 and the paid-up capital of 85 companies by R10,88,069, as shewn under :

At the close of 1907-08 the companies at work had a paid-up capital of R50,81,38,938; this was more by R6,54,50,199 than that of the preceding year. There has been an increase of 45·9 per cent in the paid-up capital in the last ten years.

About 77·7 per cent of the capital invested in joint-stock enterprise is concentrated in companies registered in Bengal and Bombay. Bengal has R20,40,00,887 being 40·1 per cent and Bombay R19,08,39,907 being 37·6 per cent of the whole. Thereafter but a long way behind comes Madras with a capital of R4,35,62,870 being 8·6 per cent of the whole.

Nearly half—about R24,00,00,000—of the aggregate capital is invested in mills and presses, chiefly for working or pressing cotton, jute, wool, and silk. This capital has increased 34 per cent in the last ten years. A great number of the mills and presses are registered in Bombay, that presidency representing about 52 per cent of this sum, most of it invested in cotton mills and presses. Mills and presses (mainly jute) registered in Bengal represent but nearly half of the capital invested in mills and presses in Bombay.

Trading companies account for nearly R10,04,10,000, of which not much, nearly a third (R3,16,83,783 or 31·5 per cent), is invested in railways and tramways. The companies for the working of these lines are mainly the creation of the last eleven years.

In tea, coffee, and other plantations, over R3,60,00,000 are invested, of which nearly 88·7 per cent is held in Bengal, most of the tea companies being registered in Calcutta. The capital invested in tea nearly (R3,48,00,000) increased by about 8 per cent in the last decade. The rupee capital is about one-sixth of the sterling capital invested in this industry.

Banking, loan, and insurance companies account for R6,89,00,000, of which 36·4 per cent is in companies registered in Bengal and 23·7 per cent in Madras. The capital of banking and loan companies has increased by about 83 per cent in the last ten years. It includes R2,21,89,283, being the capital of the eleven joint-stock banks shewn in table No. 1 and R2,10,35,156 for the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank in table No. 2 of the section relating to Banks.

The capital of mining and quarrying companies is nearly R4,24,00,000, of which 80 per cent is invested in companies registered in Bengal, most of it representing capital invested in coal mines. The capital invested in coal companies has more than doubled in the decade.

The average capital of each company is highest in Bengal, where it amounts to R3,98,439, the average of Bombay being R3,87,886. The average of the 544 companies registered in Madras is only R80,079, the reason being found in the extremely large application of the Companies Act to the business of small money lenders, for no less than 311 out of the 492 "banking and loan" companies in all India are registered in Madras with a paid-up capital of R1,62,32,855.

It should be noted that the capital stated above represent share capital only, while several companies have issued debentures, the total value of which at the close of the half-year ending December 1908 amounted to R6,85,00,000, of which R4,68,00,000 belongs to Bengal, R1,55,00,000 to Bombay, and R39,00,000 to Madras. The value of cotton mill debentures was R1,57,01,660, and of jute mill debentures R3,18,59,370.

There were 633 companies limited by guarantee at the close of the year 1906-07. Of these 188 ceased to work and 126 new companies were registered during the year 1907-08, giving a net total of 571 companies at work on the 31st March 1908.

The fees realised during 1907-08 were R1,06,745 and the expenditure was R4,261.

Table No. 7 shews the number, description, and capital of companies which are registered elsewhere than in India, but which carry on work exclusively, or nearly so, in India with sterling capital. The list has been made complete, as far as practicable, and the total number of such companies is 227 and the paid-up capital amounts to £73,872,404 besides £37,862,898, as debentures. The Railways represent £42,657,510 paid-up capital and £34,040,600 debentures. Of the rest the sterling share capital invested in the tea industry is £13,495,563, in jute mills £2,308,894, in cotton mills £798,521, and in rice mills £851,975. The gold fields in Southern India are mostly worked by companies formed in London, the paid-up sterling capital being £2,743,967.

BANKING CAPITAL IN INDIA

BANKS OF DEPOSIT, EXCHANGE, AND DISCOUNT

[TABLES 1 AND 2, PAGES 66 TO 68]

(Figures supplied by the Banks)

The statistics indicating the progress of these institutions were collected for the first time in 1900, and were therefore necessarily limited to the banks then in existence and at work. The figures for former years are defective in so far that they do not include the facts relating to banks which had passed out of existence, or ceased to do business in India, before the statistics were first collected. The unavoidable omission of such banks makes the increase of capital in 1901 over the capital in the former years of the series seem larger than it really was, and it is necessary to bear this in mind when drawing inferences from the recorded increase of capital and deposits. The following table states, with possibly some imperfections and omissions, the banks thus excluded :

	Year of establishment	Year of liquidation	Capital in the last year of the Bank's existence
Indian Joint-stock Banks—			₹
Oudh and United Service Bank, Ld. (Lucknow)	—	1871	2,00,000

Exchange Banks—
New Oriental Bank	1885	1893	600,540
Agra Bank	1833	1900	600,000 (Reserve fund 20,000)
Credit Lyonnais	1896	1900*	8,000,000 (Reserve fund 2,000,000)

The figures in table No. 1 are for the three Presidency Banks (Bengal, Bombay, and Madras) and for the undermentioned joint-stock Banks, their head offices being located in India—

Allahabad Bank, Ld.	from	1870	Punjab Banking Co., Ld.	from	1891
Bank of Upper India, Ld.	„	1870	Bank of Calcutta, Ld. (now defunct)	„	1895 to 1905
Alliance Bank of Simla, Ld.	„	1874	Punjab National Bank, Ld.	„	1895
Oudh Commercial Bank, Ld.	„	1881	Bank of Burma, Ld.	„	1905
Commercial Bank of India, Ld.	„	1886	Bank of India, Ld.	„	1906
Deccan Bank, Ld. (now defunct)	„	1891 to 1900	Bank of Rangoon, Ld.	„	1906
			Indian Specie Bank, Ld.	„	1907

Figures are stated for the three Presidency banks for the whole period, and for the other banks from the year stated against their names. The compilation was first made in 1900, and hence several other banks existing in 1870 or subsequently started, which had passed out of existence, were omitted, as particulars regarding their deposits and cash balances were not procurable. A list of the principal banks thus excluded is given above.

The figures in table No. 2 are for the joint-stock Banks known as Exchange Banks whose head offices are located elsewhere than in India, namely—

Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China	from	1870	Mercantile Bank of India	from	1893
Delhi and London Bank	„	1870	Yokohama Specie Bank	„	1894
Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation	„	1870	Deutsch-Asiatische Bank	„	1897
National Bank of India	„	1877	International Banking Corporation	„	1903
Comptoir National d'Escompte de Paris†	„	1889	Russo-Chinese Bank	„	1903

As in table No. 1 figures are stated for each bank from the date mentioned against it. A list of the banks, which do not appear owing to their having ceased to exist before the compilation of the table in 1900, will be found above.

[It may be noted that from these tables are excluded the numerous small native money lending and pawnbroking establishments which are registered annually as " banks " under the Indian Companies Act.

The share capital of the banks, whose head offices are located in India and which are exclusively Indian, increased by 31·8 per cent in the last ten years. Adding to the capital the reserves, in which the increase was much larger than the increase in capital, the increase in both combined was 36·4 per cent in the decade. The capital and reserves of the joint-stock banks, apart from the Presidency Banks, increased in the decade by 118·3 per cent, the increase in capital being 172·3 per cent and in the reserves 28·7 per cent. The amount of the capital and reserves at the end of 1907 was a little over ₹28½ millions=£1,901,000.

* Ceased to do business in India

† Worked as Comptoir d'Escompte de Paris up to 1889 when it went into liquidation and was reconstructed

The deposits in the Indian banks increased by 119·2 per cent in the same period, amounting to about ₹455 millions (over £30 millions) at the end of 1907. These figures include "public" (that is, Government) deposits in the Presidency Banks. Excluding these, ordinary deposits in the Indian banks in 1907 amounted to ₹421 millions (£28,065,000), having increased in the decade at the rate of 138·2 per cent. These deposits are to the capital and reserves of the same banks in the ratio of 5 to 1. Excluding the Presidency Banks, as in the preceding paragraph, relating to share capital and reserves, the deposits in the joint-stock banks increased in the decade from 68·92 millions of rupees to 139·85 millions, being at the rate of 102·9 per cent.

The deposits in the Indian branches of the exchange banks increased in the ten years ending 1907 by 101·9 per cent.

The extent to which bank deposits have increased in the ten years, and the proportions in which they are lodged in the different classes of banks, are shown in the figures below. These figures exclude Government deposits in the Presidency banks, and, for the exchange banks, are limited to deposits in India:

	1898	1907
Presidency banks	10,78,00,727	28,11,26,321
Exchange banks	9,49,28,880	19,17,01,596
Other joint-stock banks	6,89,23,718	13,98,53,556
TOTAL	27,16,53,325	61,26,81,473

It therefore appears that capital deposited in the banks, and thus made available for the financing of commercial and industrial operations, has increased from 2,717 lakhs to 6,127 lakhs—say from about £18,110,000 to £40,845,000—being at the rate of 125·5 per cent. The deposits in the Presidency banks have increased in a greater proportion than the deposits in the other classes of banks, representing the largest share of the aggregate deposits in 1907, the relative proportions being: the Presidency banks, 45·9 per cent; the exchange banks, 31·3 per cent; and the joint-stock banks, 22·8 per cent.

CO-OPERATIVE CREDIT SOCIETIES

[TABLES 1 TO 3, PAGES 70 TO 73]

(Compiled from the statements appended to the Proceedings of the Conference of Registrars of Co-operative Credit Societies and from Provincial Reports)

The Co-operative Credit Societies Act was passed on the 25th March 1904 to "encourage thrift, self-help, and co-operation among agriculturists, artisans, and persons of limited means." There are two classes of Societies distinguished as Urban and Rural; an urban society is defined as a society in which not less than four-fifths of the members shall be non-agriculturists, and a rural society as a society in which not less than four-fifths of the members shall be agriculturists. Each society consists of ten or more members above the age of eighteen years residing in the same town or village or in the same group of villages, or belonging to the same tribe, class or caste.

The following table compares the position of registered societies on the 31st March 1906 and on the 30th June 1907 and 1908 :—

	31st March 1906	30th June 1907	30th June 1908
Number of Societies—
Central	9	14	7
Urban	37	89	149
Rural	237	743	1,201
TOTAL	283	846	1,357
Number of Members	28,629	91,343	148,429
	R	R	R
Capital—
Loans from private persons	1,40,539	6,56,092	18,25,906
Share capital	1,31,205	5,55,805	9,31,223
Deposits by members	1,23,925	5,76,025	9,19,521
State aid	70,152	2,84,738	6,51,816
Reserve	7,398	58,598	78,558
TOTAL	4,73,219	21,31,258	44,07,024

The expansion of business is very remarkable, though it is exaggerated by the omission from the returns of 1906 of societies which were actually working without having been registered.

INVENTIONS AND DESIGNS

(Compiled from the annual reports of the Patent Office and the weekly notifications published in the Gazette of India)

The laws for granting exclusive privileges to inventors and for protecting patterns and designs were amended and consolidated by the passing of the Inventions and Designs Act, V of 1888. The statistics printed in this section summarise the working of the law for the last ten years.

The inventions for the use of which exclusive privileges have been sought or acquired during recent years relate in the main, so far as the subjects are enumerated, to bicycles and similar vehicles, the manufacture of tea, railway material, lamps and burners, the treatment of metals, electrical contrivances, spinning and weaving machines, water-lifts and pumps, sugarcane and other mills, chemical appliances and preparations, improvement in building and building materials. But the subject of nearly two-thirds of the applications is not specified in the reports on the administration of the law.

Of the 615 applications for leave to file specifications presented in 1907, 451 were granted, 17 rejected, 30 were abandoned, and 117 were pending. Of the applications 198 were made by residents in India, of whom 63 were natives and 135 other residents. The remaining 417 came from outside India, distributed as follows: United Kingdom 217, United States of America 68, British Colonies 45, and other Countries 87.

The total number of applications under the present Act of 1888 has been 8,959, and as the result 6,916 specifications were filed and brought on the register up to the end of 1907. The number of patents in force at the end of 1907 was 2,603.

The applications for registering copyright in designs are relatively very small—there were only 34 in 1907. Of the 34 applications made, 25 were registered, 19 of them being from residents in India. The number of applications since the Act came into force has been 738.

FOREIGN TRADE AND SHIPPING

[TABLES 1 TO 23, PAGES 4 TO 40]

These tables, which include imports and exports on account of the Government, exhibit, for various periods extending in many cases back to 1834-35, the progress of the foreign sea-borne trade of India generally, and of each province separately, in the principal articles of trade, and with the principal foreign countries; also the progress of shipping. They thus supplement the annual accounts of the foreign trade which exhibit the progress of the trade for only five years.

The following statement shows the rate of increase in the imports and exports, including re-exports given in Table No. 1, the trade of the year 1834-35 being taken as 100 :—

	Imports			Exports, including re-exports

(Compiled from the provincial maritime trade reports)

The Indian Merchandise Marks Act (IV of 1889) was passed in 1889, but its operation in the earlier years was restricted, especially in Calcutta, in consequence of the lack of adequate Customs machinery for the examination of goods. In 1894, with the introduction of the present tariff, the Customs staff was strengthened for the examination of goods for assessment to duty and this increase enabled examination to be made at the same time for the purposes of the Merchandise Marks Act.

The Act was intended originally to prevent the fraudulent sale of goods bearing false trade marks or false trade descriptions (as of origin, quality, weight, or quantity). While the Act was before the Legislature a provision was added to require that all piece goods should be stamped with their length in yards. In this respect these goods are an exception, for the Act does not require that other descriptions of goods should be stamped or marked, though it requires that when goods are marked the marks must be a correct description.

The whole number of detentions under the Act was :

Detention is but rarely followed by confiscation, and there have been only 118 such cases in the nineteen years. Usually, detained goods are released with a fine, and this procedure was followed in 16,193 cases out of the 24,532 detentions ordered in the same period. In 8,201 cases the detained goods were released without the infliction of a fine.

In this period of nineteen years 45 per cent of the detentions were on account of the application of false trade marks or false trade descriptions. In 27 per cent of the cases detention was ordered because the country of origin was either not stated or was falsely stated, and in 28 per cent, because the provisions of the Act for the stamping of piece goods had been infringed.

(Compiled from the Prices Current of the Chambers of Commerce.)

The table has been constructed for the purpose of showing the course of freight charges, since the opening of the Suez Canal, for the conveyance from India to the United Kingdom of the articles which comprise the great bulk of the export trade.

The figures represent the minimum rates in March of each year. The rates under Calcutta are quoted from the "Calcutta Price Current" of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, those under Bombay from the "Current Quotations" of the Bombay Chamber of Commerce from 1882 onwards and for earlier years from a statement received from the Secretary to the Chamber and those under Karáchi from the "Karáchi Price Current" of the Karáchi Chamber of Commerce. The rates for seeds from Bombay for the years 1872 to 1881 represent the lowest freight to Liverpool viâ the Cape, rates by Canal not being available. The following are the rates charged viâ Canal by P. and O. Company's steamers in those years for cotton and seeds :

1871	3 — —	1875	2 15 —	1879	1 15 —
1872	4 5 —	1876	3 — —	1880	2 12 6
1873	3 5 —	1877	2 7 6	1881	1 15 —
1874	3 — —	1878	2 5 —

There have been great fluctuations in freight rates, but taking the average of the last three decades, the general tendency has been in the downward direction. As the facilities for trade offered by the Canal made themselves more apparent from year to year, the stimulus to shipowners to build more vessels, specially adapted for canal traffic, became more accentuated, and increased competition for cargo was followed by a reduction in rates. Since 1895 freights have been on a permanently lower level and in the case of Bombay and Karáchi have never exceeded £1 per ton. Freights in 1908 were, as a whole, abnormally low and, except that Bombay rates were weak and the Kárachi wheat quotation was 3*s.* better, they maintained practically the same level in 1909.

(Figures supplied by the Port Officer and Registrar of Wrecks, Calcutta)

This table exhibits the number of British, British Indian, and native vessels which were totally lost in Indian waters (from Suez to Penang), the total tonnage of vessels wrecked, and the number of lives lost in the past twenty-five years.

The average number and tonnage of each class of vessels annually lost in the last ten years, and the proportion in the same period which the number and tonnage bear to the number of vessels that cleared from Indian ports, are approximately—

	No.	Tonnage	Proportion of no.	Proportion of tonnage
British :
Steam	3	2,790	0·13 per cent	·06 per cent
Sailing	1	555	2·31 „	1·14 „
British Indian :
Sailing	33	1,586	7·07 „	2·98 „
Native craft	12	528	1·16 „	·85 „

41 vessels were totally lost in 1908, of which 4 were British, one foreign, 25 British Indian, and 11 native craft.

Exceptional loss of life in certain years is recorded in the table. The causes are stated below—

1876. 400 pilgrims perished in the Hydari, bound from Calcutta to Jeddah.

1879. Continuous bad weather, and a cyclone, on the west coast of India in May.

1885. The Speke Hall foundered (58 lives lost) in the Gulf of Aden; and three vessels were wrecked (239 lives lost) during cyclone in the Bay of Bengal and on the east coast of Arabia.

1887. The Sir John Lawrence foundered (750 lives lost) at the mouth of the Hooghly in a cyclone.

1888. The Vitarna (800 lives lost), wrecked off the Káthiawár coast in a cyclone.

1891. Four vessels were wrecked in a cyclone in the Bay of Bengal.

1892. The Deccan foundered (214 lives lost) in the Indian Ocean.

1896. The Luna was wrecked (75 lives lost) in the Gulf of Aden.

1902. The Camorta was wrecked (781 lives lost) on the Burma Coast.

1905. The Hashemi foundered (74 lives lost) off the south Orissa coast in a cyclone.

JOINT-STOCK COMPANIES

[TABLES NOS. 1 TO 7, PAGES 49 TO 63]

(Compiled from the provincial reports on the working of the Indian Companies Act, VI of 1882, the annual lists of joint-stock companies furnished by the Registrars, and special returns of companies with sterling capital received from the managers or agents, the Indian Tea Association, and the Railway Board)

Table Nos. 1 to 6 relate exclusively to joint-stock companies registered in British India under the Indian Companies Act, VI of 1882, and in Mysore under the Mysore Companies Regulation, III of 1895. They do not include the numerous and large companies with sterling capital carrying on business in India but registered in England and having their head offices there. Those companies with sterling capital which work exclusively or almost so in India, are shewn in table No. 7. All the Companies registered in India have a rupee capital with the exception of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation which was registered in Calcutta in 1869 with a capital in Hongkong dollars of which the rupee equivalent is stated.

The total number of companies, which have been registered in India under the law from the time it was passed, amounts to 5,458. Of these, 2,156 were working at the end of 1908-09, most of the others having been either wound up or otherwise discontinued or never having commenced business, so that about 61 per cent of the companies started have been failures. The companies that have ceased to work include a number of speculative gold-mining companies formed in Bengal some years ago and a considerable number of "provident" associations formed in the last few years in the same province. Some companies have also been taken off the Indian register, to be reconstructed as companies under the English law with their head offices in London.

During the year 285 new companies with a nominal and paid-up capital of R22,27,09,246 and R53,70,298 respectively were registered, and 195 companies with a nominal and paid-up capital of R4,24,89,072 and R1,44,43,901 respectively ceased to work.

In 1908-09 there was a net increase of 95 in the number of companies, of R20,57,56,403 in the nominal capital and of R6,21,80,284 in the paid-up capital. The nominal capital of 73 companies was increased by R2,10,03,462 and the paid-up capital of 751 companies by R6,70,39,867. The nominal capital of 4 companies was reduced by R11,68,328 and the paid-up capital of 88 companies by R10,34,928, as shewn under :

At the close of 1908-09 the companies at work had a paid-up capital of R57,03,19,222; this was more by R6,21,80,284 than that of the preceding year. There has been an increase of 64·5 per cent in the paid-up capital in the last ten years.

About 77·7 per cent of the capital invested in joint-stock enterprise is concentrated in companies registered in Bengal and Bombay. Bengal has R23,38,33,801 being 41 per cent and Bombay R20,95,63,430 being 36·7 per cent of the whole. Thereafter but a long way behind comes Madras with a capital of R4,51,02,256 being 7·9 per cent of the whole.

Nearly half—about R25,00,00,000—of the aggregate capital is invested in mills and presses, chiefly for working or pressing cotton, jute, wool, and silk. This capital has increased 37·3 per cent in the last ten years. A great number of the mills and presses are registered in Bombay, that presidency representing about 52 per cent of this sum, most of it invested in cotton mills and presses. Mills and presses (mainly jute) registered in Bengal represent but nearly half of the capital invested in mills and presses in Bombay.

Trading companies account for nearly R10,88,00,000, of which not much, nearly a third (R3,26,48,556 or 30 per cent), is invested in railways and tramways. The companies for the working of these lines are mainly the creation of the last twelve years.

In tea, coffee, and other plantations, over R3,58,00,000 are invested, of which nearly 89 per cent is held in Bengal, most of the tea companies being registered in Calcutta. The capital invested in tea about (R3,37,00,000) increased by about 4 per cent in the last decade. The rupee capital is about one-sixth of the sterling capital invested in this industry.

Banking, loan, and insurance companies account for R7,56,00,000, of which 37·6 per cent is in companies registered in Bengal and 23 per cent in Madras. The capital of banking and loan companies has increased by about 92·8 per cent in the last ten years. It includes R2,29,85,196, being the capital of the thirteen joint-stock banks shewn in table No. 1 and R2,57,81,250 for the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank in table No. 2 of the section relating to Banks.

The capital of mining and quarrying companies is nearly R7,66,00,000, of which 71·1 per cent is invested in companies registered in Bengal, most of it representing capital invested in coal mines. The capital invested in coal companies has quadrupled in the decade.

The average capital of each company is highest in Bengal, where it amounts to R4,41,196, the average of Bombay being R4,06,131. The average of the 517 companies registered in Madras is only R87,238, the reason being found in the extremely large application of the Companies Act to the business of small money lenders, for no less than 305 out of the 507 "banking and loan" companies in all India are registered in Madras with a paid-up capital of R1,73,35,555.

It should be noted that the capital stated above represent share capital only, while several companies have issued debentures, the total value of which at the close of the half-year ending December 1909 amounted to R8,53,00,000, of which R4,83,00,000 belongs to Bengal, R3,08,00,000 to Bombay, and R39,00,000 to Madras. The value of cotton mill debentures was R1,84,06,291, and of jute mill debentures R3,45,85,870.

There were 571 companies limited by guarantee at the close of the year 1907-08. Of these 190 ceased to work and 101 new companies were registered during the year 1908-09, giving a net total of 482 companies at work on the 31st March 1909.

The fees realised during 1908-09 were R1,03,268 and the expenditure was R3,080.

Table No. 7 shews the number, description, and capital of companies which are registered elsewhere than in India, but which carry on work exclusively, or nearly so, in India with sterling capital. The list has been made complete, as far as practicable, and the total number of such companies is 278 and the paid-up capital amounts to £68,760,790 besides £42,310,645 as debentures. The Railways represent £38,251,416 paid-up capital and £38,376,100 debentures. Of the rest the sterling share capital invested in the tea industry is £13,729,363, in jute mills £2,433,894, in cotton mills £763,521, and in rice mills £1,088,225. The gold fields in Southern India are mostly worked by companies formed in London, the paid-up sterling capital being £3,018,421.

BANKING CAPITAL IN INDIA

BANKS OF DEPOSIT, EXCHANGE, AND DISCOUNT

[TABLES 1 AND 2, PAGES 66 TO 68]

(Figures supplied by the Banks)

The statistics indicating the progress of these institutions were collected for the first time in 1900, and were therefore necessarily limited to the banks then in existence and at work. The figures for former years are defective in that they do not include the facts relating to banks which had passed out of existence, or ceased to do business in India, before the statistics were first collected. The unavoidable omission of such banks makes the increase of capital in 1901 over the capital in the former years of the series seem larger than it really was, and it is necessary to bear this in mind when drawing inferences from the recorded increase of capital and deposits. The following table states, with possibly some imperfections and omissions, the banks thus excluded:

	Year of establishment	Year of liquidation	Capital in the last year of the Bank's existence
Indian Joint-stock Banks—			₹
Bank of Calcutta, Ld.	—	1872	10,00,000
United Bank of India, Ld. (Simla)	—	1874	5,00,000
Punjab Bank, Ld. (Rawalpindi)	1862	1877	20,00,000
Simla Banking Corporation, Ld.	1860	1887	8,45,000
Uncovenanted Service Bank	1861	1890-91	6,00,000
Exchange Banks—			£
New Oriental Bank	1885	1893	600,540
Agra Bank	1833	1900	Reserve fund { 600,000 / 20,000
Credit Lyonnais	1896	1900*	Reserve fund { 8,000,000 / 2,000,000

The figures in table No. 1 are for the three Presidency Banks (Bengal, Bombay, and Madras) and for the undermentioned joint-stock Banks, their head offices being located in India—

Allahabad Bank, Ld.	from	1870	Punjab National Bank, Ld.	from	1895
Bank of Upper India, Ld.	„	1870	Bank of Burma, Ld.	„	1905
Alliance Bank of Simla, Ld.	„	1874	Bank of India, Ld.	„	1906
Oudh Commercial Bank, Ld.	„	1881	Bank of Rangoon, Ld.	„	1906
Commercial Bank of India, Ld. (now defunct)	„	1886 to 1907	Indian Specie Bank, Ld.	„	1907
Deccan Bank, Ld. (now defunct)	„	1891 to 1900	Bengal National Bank, Ld.	„	1908
Punjab Banking Co., Ld.	„	1891	People's Bank of India, Ld.	„	1908
Bank of Calcutta, Ld. (now defunct)	„	1895 to 1905	Bangalore Bank, Ld.	„	1908

Figures are stated for the three Presidency banks for the whole period, and for the other banks from the year stated against their names. The compilation was first made in 1900, and hence several other banks existing in 1870 or subsequently started, which had passed out of existence, were omitted, as particulars regarding their deposits and cash balances were not procurable. A list of the principal banks thus excluded is given above.

The figures in table No. 2 are for the joint-stock Banks known as Exchange Banks whose head offices are located elsewhere than in India, namely—

Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China	from	1870	Mercantile Bank of India	from	1893
Delhi and London Bank	„	1870	Yokohama Specie Bank	„	1894
Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation	„	1870	Deutsch-Asiatische Bank	„	1897
National Bank of India	„	1877	International Banking Corporation	„	1903
Comptoir National d'Escompte de Paris†	„	1889	Russo-Chinese Bank	„	1903

As in table No. 1 figures are stated for each bank from the date mentioned against it. A list of the banks, which do not appear owing to their having ceased to exist before the compilation of the table in 1900, will be found above.

[It may be noted that from these tables are excluded firstly, banks of deposit which, though doing business on Western methods, do not possess a minimum of five lakhs of rupees of paid-up capital and reserve fund combined, and secondly, the numerous small native money lending and pawnbroking establishments which are registered annually as "banks" under the Indian Companies Act.]

The share capital of the banks, whose head offices are located in India and which are exclusively Indian, increased by 33·6 per cent in the last ten years. Adding to the capital the reserves, in which the increase was much larger than the increase in capital, the increase in both combined was 39·6 per cent in the decade. The capital and reserves of the joint-stock Banks, apart from the Presidency Banks, increased in the decade by 120·7 per cent, the increase in capital being 181·5 per cent and in the reserves 28·4 per cent. The amount of the capital and reserves at the end of 1908 was about R30 millions=£1,993,000.

The deposits in the Indian Banks increased by 121·5 per cent in the same period, amounting to about R480 millions (over £32 millions) at the end of 1908. These figures include "public" (that is, Government) deposits in the Presidency Banks. Excluding these, ordinary deposits in the Indian Banks in 1908 amounted to R448 millions (£29,861,000), having increased in the decade at the rate of 137·6 per cent. These deposits are to the capital and reserves of the same banks in the ratio of 5 to 1. Excluding the Presidency Banks, as in the preceding paragraph, relating to share capital and reserves, the deposits in the joint-stock Banks increased in the decade from 74·35 millions of rupees to 161·76 millions, being at the rate of 117·6 per cent.

The deposits in the Indian branches of the Exchange Banks increased in the ten years ending 1908 by 82·4 per cent.

The extent to which bank deposits have increased in the ten years, and the proportions in which they are lodged in the different classes of banks, are shown in the figures below. These figures exclude Government deposits in the Presidency Banks, and, for the Exchange Banks, are limited to deposits in India:

	1899	1908
Presidency Banks	11,41,07,601	28,61,53,143
Exchange Banks	10,70,01,720	19,51,52,360
Other joint-stock Banks	7,43,51,039	16,17,67,563
TOTAL	29,54,60,360	64,30,73,066

It therefore appears that capital deposited in the banks, and thus made available for the financing of commercial and industrial operations, has increased from 2,955 lakhs to 6,431 lakhs—say from about £19,700,000 to £42,871,000—being at the rate of 117·7 per cent. The deposits in the Presidency Banks have increased in a greater proportion than the deposits in the other classes of banks, representing the largest share of the aggregate deposits in 1908, the relative proportions being: the Presidency Banks, 44·5 per cent; the Exchange Banks, 30·3 per cent; and the joint-stock Banks, 25·2 per cent.

CO-OPERATIVE CREDIT SOCIETIES

[TABLES 1 TO 3, PAGES 70 TO 73]

(Compiled from the statements appended to the Proceedings of the Conference of Registrars of Co-operative Credit Societies and from Provincial Reports)

The Co-operative Credit Societies Act was passed on the 25th March 1904 to "encourage thrift, self-help, and co-operation among agriculturists, artisans, and persons of limited means." There are two classes of Societies distinguished as Urban and Rural: an urban society is defined as a society in which not less than four-fifths of the members shall be non-agriculturists, and a rural society as a society in which not less than four-fifths of the members shall be agriculturists. Each society consists of ten or more members above the age of eighteen years residing in the same town or village or in the same group of villages, or belonging to the same tribe, class or caste.

The following table compares the position of registered societies on the 31st March 1906 and on the 30th June 1907, 1908, and 1909:—

	31st March 1906	30th June 1907	30th June 1908	30th June 1909

TOTAL	4,87,708	29,63,449	46,66,565	84,10,895

The expansion of business is very remarkable, though it is exaggerated by the omission from the returns of 1906 of societies which were actually working without having been registered.

With the single exception of Ajmer, where the movement shows no vitality, the progress made in all other provinces during 1908-09 was highly satisfactory.

(Compiled from the annual reports of the Patent Office and the weekly notifications published in the Gazette of India)

The laws for granting exclusive privileges to inventors and for protecting patterns and designs were amended and consolidated by the passing of the Inventions and Designs Act, V of 1888. The statistics printed in this section summarise the working of the law for the last ten years.

The inventions for the use of which exclusive privileges have been sought or acquired during recent years relate in the main, so far as the subjects are enumerated, to bicycles and similar vehicles, the manufacture of tea, railway material, lamps and burners, the treatment of metals, electrical contrivances, spinning and weaving machines, water-lifts and pumps, sugarcane and other mills, chemical appliances and preparations, improvement in building and building materials. But the subject of nearly two-thirds of the applications is not specified in the reports on the administration of the law.

Of the 551 applications for leave to file specifications presented in 1908, 408 were granted, 14 rejected, 27 were abandoned, and 102 were pending. Of the applications 199 were made by residents in India, of whom 57 were natives and 142 other residents. The remaining 352 came from outside India, distributed as follows: United Kingdom 192, United States of America 41, British Colonies 48, and other Countries 71.

The total number of applications under the present Act of 1888 has been 9,510, and as the result 7,387 specifications were filed and brought on the register up to the end of 1908. The number of patents in force at the end of 1908 was 2,645.

The applications for registering copyright in designs are relatively very small—there were only 66 in 1908. Of the 66 applications made, 56 were registered, 47 of them being from residents in India. The number of applications since the Act came into force has been 804.

FOREIGN TRADE AND SHIPPING

[TABLES 1 TO 23, PAGES 4 TO 40]

These tables, which include imports and exports on account of the Government, exhibit, for various periods extending in many cases back to 1834-35, the progress of the foreign sea-borne trade of India generally, and of each province separately, in the principal articles of trade, and with the principal foreign countries; also the progress of shipping. They thus supplement the annual accounts of the foreign trade which exhibit the progress of the trade for only five years.

The following statement shows the rate of increase in the imports and exports, (including re-exports) given in Table No. 1, the trade of the year 1834-35 being taken as 100 :—

	Imports			Exports, including re-exports

(Compiled from the provincial maritime trade reports)

The Indian Merchandise Marks Act (IV of 1889) was passed in 1889, but its operation in the earlier years was restricted, especially in Calcutta, in consequence of the lack of adequate Customs machinery for the examination of goods. In 1894, with the introduction of the present tariff, the Customs staff was strengthened for the examination of goods for assessment to duty, and this increase enabled examination to be made at the same time for the purposes of the Merchandise Marks Act.

The Act was intended originally to prevent the fraudulent sale of goods bearing false trade marks or false trade descriptions (as of origin, quality, weight, or quantity). While the Act was before the Legislature a provision was added to require that all piece goods should be stamped with their length in yards. In this respect these goods are an exception, for the Act does not require that other descriptions of goods should be stamped or marked, though it requires that when goods are marked the marks must be a correct description.

The whole number of detentions under the Act was :

Average of the five years ending	1894-95	1,095
„ „ „ „	1899-1900	1,544
„ „ „ „	1904-05	1,271
„ „ „ „	1909-10	1,413

Detention is but rarely followed by confiscation, and there have been only 123 such cases in the twenty years. Usually, detained goods are released with a fine, and this procedure was followed in 17,272 cases out of the 26,616 detentions ordered in the same period. In 9,201 cases the detained goods were released without the infliction of a fine.

In this period of twenty years 43 per cent of the detentions were on account of the application of false trade marks or false trade descriptions. In 30 per cent of the cases detention was ordered because the country of origin was either not stated or was falsely stated, and in 27 per cent, because the provisions of the Act for the stamping of piece goods had been infringed

(Compiled from the Prices Current of the Chambers of Commerce)

The table has been constructed for the purpose of showing the course of freight charges during the last twenty-five years for the conveyance from India to the United Kingdom, viâ Suez Canal, of the articles which comprise the great bulk of the export trade.

The table as hitherto published stated the minimum rates in March of each year. But the truly representative minimum rate would be the minimum rate obtaining in the month in which the largest quantity of a given commodity is known to be ordinarily shipped. The statistics now presented in the table have been reconstructed throughout on this basis, and it is only necessary to explain that for rice and cotton the figures represent the rates in January, for wheat in May, for linseed (Calcutta) in June, for tea in August, for Jute in October, and for seeds (Bombay) in December. The rates under Calcutta are quoted from the "Calcutta Price Current" of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, those under Bombay from the "Current Quotations" of the Bombay Chamber of Commerce, and those under Karachi from the "Karachi Price Current" of the Karachi Chamber of Commerce.

There have been great fluctuations in freight rates, but on the whole, the general tendency has been in the downward direction. As the facilities for trade offered by the Canal made themselves more apparent from year to year, the stimulus to shipowners to build more vessels, especially adapted for canal traffic, became more accentuated, and increased competition for cargo was followed by a reduction in rates. Since 1898 freights appear to have been on a permanently lower level, and in the case of Bombay and Karachi have never exceeded £1 per ton. Freights in 1908 were, as a whole, abnormally low ; but in the next year they hardened somewhat except the rate for tea at Calcutta which kept the preceding year's level and that for cotton at Bombay which fell by 6*d*. In 1910 there was a further stiffening by 6*d*. to 5*s*. 6*d*. per ton, except in the rates for linseed and tea at Calcutta and for seeds at Bombay which maintained the previous year's level.

(Figures supplied by the Port Officer and Registrar of Wrecks, Calcutta)

This table exhibits the number of British, British Indian, and native vessels which were totally lost in Indian waters (from Suez to Penang), the total tonnage of vessels wrecked, and the number of lives lost, in the past twenty-five years.

The number and tonnage of each class of vessels annually lost from 1877 and the proportion which the number and tonnage bear to the number and tonnage of vessels that cleared from Indian ports, are approximately as follows :—

	BRITISH								BRITISH INDIAN				NATIVE CRAFT

163 vessels were totally lost in 1909, of which 16 were British, one foreign, 104 British Indian, and 42 native craft

The causes of exceptional loss of life in certain years are stated below—

1876. 400 pilgrims perished in the Hydari, bound from Calcutta to Jeddah.

1879. Continuous bad weather, and a cyclone, on the west coast of India in May.

1885. The Speke Hall foundered (58 lives lost) in the Gulf of Aden; and three vessels were wrecked (239 lives lost) during cyclone in the Bay of Bengal and on the east coast of Arabia.

1887. The Sir John Lawrence foundered (750 lives lost) at the mouth of the Hooghly in a cyclone.

1888. The Vitarna (800 lives lost), wrecked off the Káthiawár coast in a cyclone.

1891. Four vessels were wrecked in a cyclone in the Bay of Bengal.

1892. The Deccan foundered (214 lives lost) in the Indian Ocean.

1896. The Luna was wrecked (75 lives lost) in the Gulf of Aden.

1902. The Camorta was wrecked (781 lives lost) on the Burma Coast.

1905. The Hashemi foundered (74 lives lost) off the south Orissa coast in a cyclone.

JOINT-STOCK COMPANIES

[TABLES NOS. 1 TO 7, PAGES 49 TO 63].

(Compiled from the provincial reports on the working of the Indian Companies Act, VI of 1882, the annual lists of joint-stock companies furnished by the Registrars, and special returns of companies with sterling capital received from the managers or agents, the Indian Tea Association, and the Railway Board)

N. B.—Statistics relating to certain Native States and foreign territories which have hitherto been included in this section have been excluded this year in accordance with the decision of the Government of India that the volumes constituting the Statistics of British India should be restricted to a presentation of statistics relating to British India only.

Table Nos. 1 to 6 relate exclusively to joint-stock companies registered in British India under the Indian Companies Act, VI of 1882. They do not include the numerous and large companies which, while carrying on business in India are registered in other countries and have their capital in money other than Indian. Such companies of this latter class, as work wholly or mainly in British India, are shewn in tableNo. 7. All the companies registered in British India have a rupee capital with the exception of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation which was registered in Calcutta in 1869 with a capital in Hongkong dollars of which the rupee equivalent is stated.

The total number of companies, which have been registered in India under the law from the time it was passed, amounts to 5,441. Of these, 2,162 were working at the end of 1909-10, most of the others having been either wound up or otherwise discontinued or never having commenced business, so that about 60 per cent of the companies started have been failures. The companies that have ceased to work include a number of speculative gold-mining companies formed in Bengal some years ago and a considerable number of "provident" associations formed in the last few years in the same province. Some companies have also been taken off the Indian register, to be reconstructed as companies under the English law with their head offices in London.

During the year 214 new companies with a nominal and paid-up capital of R9,18,19,980 and R36,07,556 respectively were registered, and 148 companies with a nominal and paid-up capital of R2,56,31,260 and R1,06,04,088 respectively ceased to work.

In 1909-10 there was a net increase of 66 in the number of companies, of R8,99,85,320 in the nominal capital and of R4,46,44,937 in the paid-up capital. The nominal capital of 50 companies was increased by R2,51,73,755 and the paid-up capital of 763 companies by R5,16,98,347. The nominal capital of 7 companies was reduced by R23,14,655 and the paid-up capital of 68 companies by R14,95,097, as shewn under :

At the close of 1909-10 the companies at work had a paid-up capital of R61,18,41,508; this was more by R4,46,44,937 than that of the preceding year. There has been an increase of 69·5 per cent in the paid-up capital in the last ten years.

About 78 per cent of the capital invested in joint-stock enterprise is concentrated in companies registered in Bengal and Bombay. Bengal has R25,32,31,076 being 41·4 per cent and Bombay R22,41,81,637 being 36·6 per cent of the whole. Thereafter but a long way behind comes Madras with a capital of R4,64,98,840 being 7·6 per cent of the whole.

Nearly half—over R26,00,00,000—of the aggregate capital is invested in mills and presses, chiefly for working or pressing cotton, jute, wool, and silk. This capital has increased 43·4 per cent in the last ten years. A great number of the mills and presses are registered in Bombay, that presidency representing about 50·5 per cent of this sum, most of it invested in cotton mills and presses. Mills and presses (mainly jute) registered in Bengal represent only about half of the capital invested in mills and presses in Bombay.

Trading companies account for nearly R11,76,00,000, of which not much, nearly a third (R3,51,05,213 or 30 per cent), is invested in railways and tramways. The companies for the working of these lines are mainly the creation of the last thirteen years.

In tea, coffee, and other plantations, over R3,75,00,000 are invested, of which nearly 90 per cent is held in Bengal, most of the tea companies being registered in Calcutta. The capital invested in tea (about R3,52,00,000) increased by 6 per cent in the last decade. The rupee capital is about one-sixth of the sterling capital invested in this industry.

Banking, loan, and insurance companies account for R7,99,00,000, of which 37·5 per cent is in companies registered in Bengal and 22 per cent in Madras. The capital of banking and loan companies has increased by 108 per cent in the last ten years. It includes R2,66,06,682, being the capital of the fifteen joint-stock banks shewn in table No. 1 and R2,67,18,750 for the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank which is included in table No. 2 of the section relating to Banks.

The capital of mining and quarrying companies is over R8,48,00,000, of which 70 per cent is invested in companies registered in Bengal, most of it representing capital invested in coal mines. The capital invested in coal companies has quadrupled in the decade.

The average capital of each company is highest in Bengal, where it amounts to R4,66,356, the average of Bombay being R4,12,099. The average of the 481 companies registered in Madras is only R96,671, the reason being found in the extremely large application of the Companies Act to the business of small money lenders, for no less than 278 out of the 452 " banking and loan " companies in all India are registered in Madras with a paid-up capital of R1,74,36,045.

It should be noted that the capital stated above represents share capital only, while several companies have issued debentures, the total value of which at the close of the half-year ending December 1910 amounted to R7,33,00,000, of which R4,89,00,000 belongs to Bengal, R1,98,00,000 to Bombay, and R23,00,000 to Madras. The value of cotton mill debentures was R1,78,30,691, and of jute mill debentures R3,65,85,870.

There were 456 companies limited by guarantee at the close of the year 1908-09. Of these 86 ceased to work and 31 new companies were registered during the year 1909-10, giving a net total of 401 companies at work on the 31st March 1910.

The fees realised during 1909-10 were R74,658 and the expenditure was R4,493.

Table No. 7 shews the number, description, and capital of companies which are registered elsewhere than in India, but which carry on work exclusively, or nearly so, in India, mostly with sterling capital. The list has been made complete, as far as practicable, and the total number of such companies is 311 and the paid-up capital amounts to £69,910,173 besides £42,930,022 as debentures. The Railways represent £36,301,076 paid-up capital and £37,833,848 debentures. Of the rest, the sterling share capital invested in the tea industry is £14,135,658, in jute mills £2,453,894, in cotton mills £400,000, and in rice mills £1,530,725. The gold fields in the Bombay and the Madras Presidencies are mostly worked by companies formed in London, the paid-up sterling capital being £834,284.

BANKING CAPITAL IN INDIA

BANKS OF DEPOSIT, EXCHANGE, AND DISCOUNT

[TABLES 1 AND 2, PAGES 66 TO 68]

(Figures supplied by the Banks)

The statistics indicating the progress of these institutions were collected for the first time in 1900, and were therefore necessarily limited to the banks then in existence and at work. The figures for former years are defective in that they do not include the facts relating to banks which had passed out of existence, or ceased to do business in India, before the statistics were first collected. The unavoidable omission of such banks makes the increase of capital in 1901 over the capital in the former years of the series seem larger than it really was, and it is necessary to bear this in mind when drawing inferences from the recorded increase of capital and deposits. The following table states, with possibly some imperfections and omissions, the banks thus excluded:

	Year of establishment	Year of liquidation		Capital in the last year of the Bank's existence
Indian Joint-stock Banks—				₹
Bank of Calcutta, Ld.	—	1872		10,00,000
United Bank of India, Ld. (Simla)	—	1874		5,00,000
Punjab Bank, Ld. (Rawalpindi)	1862	1877		20,00,000
Simla Banking Corporation, Ld.	1860	1887		8,45,000
Uncovenanted Service Bank	1861	1890-91		6,00,000
Exchange Banks—				£
New Oriental Bank	1885	1893		600,540
Agra Bank	1833	1900	Reserve fund	600,000 20,000
Credit Lyonnais	1896	1900*	Reserve fund	8,000,000 2,000,000

The figures in table No. 1 are for the three Presidency Banks (Bengal, Bombay, and Madras) and for the undermentioned joint-stock Banks, their head offices being located in India—

Allahabad Bank, Ld.	from 1870	Bank of Burma, Ld.	from 1905
Bank of Upper India, Ld.	„ 1870	Bank of India, Ld.	„ 1906
Alliance Bank of Simla, Ld.	„ 1874	Bank of Rangoon, Ld.	„ 1906
Oudh Commercial Bank, Ld.	„ 1881	Indian Specie Bank, Ld.	„ 1907
Commercial Bank of India, Ld. (now defunct)	„ 1886 to 1907	Indian Bank, Ld.	„ 1907
Deccan Bank, Ld. (now defunct)	„ 1891 to 1900	Bengal National Bank, Ld.	„ 1908
Punjab Banking Co., Ld.	„ 1891	People's Bank of India, Ld.	„ 1908
Bank of Calcutta, Ld. (now defunct)	„ 1895 to 1905	Bangalore Bank, Ld.	„ 1908
Punjab National Bank, Ld.	„ 1895	Bombay Merchants Bank, Ld.	„ 1909

Figures are stated for the three Presidency banks for the whole period, and for the other banks from the year stated against their names. The compilation was first made in 1900, and hence several other banks existing in 1870 or subsequently started, which had passed out of existence, were omitted, as particulars regarding their deposits and cash balances were not procurable. A list of the principal banks thus excluded is given above.

The figures in table No. 2 are for the joint-stock Banks known as Exchange Banks whose head offices are located elsewhere than in India, namely—

Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China	from 1870	Mercantile Bank of India	from 1893
Delhi and London Bank	„ 1870	Yokohama Specie Bank	„ 1894
Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation	„ 1870	Deutsch-Asiatische Bank	„ 1897
National Bank of India	„ 1877	International Banking Corporation	„ 1903
Comptoir National d'Escompte de Paris†	„ 1889	Russo-Asiatic Bank (formerly Russo-Chinese Bank)	„ 1903

As in table No. 1 figures are stated for each bank from the date mentioned against it. A list of the banks, which do not appear owing to their having ceased to exist before the compilation of the table in 1900, will be found above.

[It may be noted that from these tables are excluded, firstly, banks of deposit which, though doing business on Western methods, do not possess a minimum of five lakhs of rupees of paid-up capital and reserve fund combined, and, secondly, the numerous small native money-lending and pawn-broking establishments which are registered annually as "banks" under the Indian Companies Act.]

The share capital of the banks, whose head offices are located in India and which are exclusively Indian, increased by 41·6 per cent in the last ten years. Adding to the capital the reserves, in which the increase was much larger than the increase in capital, the increase in both combined was 50·2 per cent in the decade. The capital and reserves of the joint-stock Banks, apart from the Presidency Banks, increased in the decade by 177·2 per cent, the increase in capital being 224 per cent and in the reserves 93 per cent. The amount of the capital and reserves at the end of 1909 was about R35 millions=£2,360,000.

The deposits in the Indian Banks increased by 130·7 per cent in the same period, amounting to about R563 millions (over £37 millions) at the end of 1909. These figures include "public" (that is, Government) deposits in the Presidency Banks. Excluding these, ordinary deposits in the Indian Banks in 1909 amounted to R531 millions (£35,428,000), having increased in the decade at the rate of 153·1 per cent. These deposits are to the capital and reserves of the same banks in the ratio of 5 to 1. Excluding the Presidency Banks, as in the preceding paragraph, relating to share capital and reserves, the deposits in the joint-stock Banks increased in the decade from 80·75 millions of rupees to 204·91 millions, being at the rate of 153·8 per cent.

The deposits in the Indian branches of the Exchange Banks increased in the ten years ending 1909 by 93 per cent.

The extent to which bank deposits have increased in the ten years, and the proportions in which they are lodged in the different classes of banks, are shown in the figures below. These figures exclude Government deposits in the Presidency Banks, and, for the Exchange Banks, are limited to deposits in India:

	1900	1909
Presidency Banks	12,88,26,655	32,65,03,420
Exchange Banks	10,50,34,924	20,27,42,522
Other joint-stock Banks	8,07,52,181	20,49,10,078
TOTAL	31,46,13,760	73,41,56,020

It therefore appears that capital deposited in the banks, and thus made available for the financing of commercial and industrial operations, has increased from 3,146 lakhs to 7,342 lakhs—say from about £20,974,000 to £48,943,000—being at the rate of 133·4 per cent. The deposits in the Presidency Banks have increased in a greater proportion than the deposits in the other classes of banks, representing the largest share of the aggregate deposits in 1909, the relative proportions being: the Presidency Banks, 44·5 per cent; the Exchange Banks, 27·6 per cent; and the joint-stock Banks, 27·9 per cent.

CO-OPERATIVE CREDIT SOCIETIES

[TABLES 1 TO 3, PAGES 70 TO 73]

(Compiled from the statements appended to the Proceedings of the Conference of Registrars of Co-operative Credit Societies and from Provincial Reports)

N. B.—Statistics of the societies in the Mysore State which have hitherto been incorporated in this section have been excluded this year in accordance with the decision of the Government of India that the volumes constituting the Statistic of British India should be restricted to a presentation of statistics relating to British India only.

The Co-operative Credit Societies Act was passed on the 25th March 1904 to "encourage thrift, self-help, and co-operation among agriculturists, artisans, and persons of limited means." There are two classes of Societies distinguished as Urban and Rural: an urban society is defined as a society in which not less than four-fifths of the members shall be non-agriculturists, and a rural society as a society in which not less than four-fifths of the members shall be agriculturists. Each society consists of ten or more members above the age of eighteen years residing in the same town or village or in the same group of villages, or belonging to the same tribe, class, or caste.

The following table compares the position of registered societies in British India in 1909-10 and in the four preceding years :—

The expansion of business reflected in the statistics for 1906-07 is exaggerated to a certain extent by the omission from the returns of 1906 of societies which were actually working without having been registered.

It was stated in reviewing the statistics for 1908-09 that, with the single exception of Ajmer, where the movement showed no vitality, the progress made in all other province was highly satisfactory. In 1909-10 the progress was exceedingly encouraging in all the provinces.

(Compiled from the annual reports of the Patent Office and the weekly notifications published in the Gazette of India)

The laws for granting exclusive privileges to inventors and for protecting patterns and designs were amended and consolidated by the passing of the Inventions and Designs Act, V of 1888. The statistics printed in this section summarise the working of the law for the last ten years.

The inventions for the use of which exclusive privileges have been sought or acquired during recent years relate in the main, so far as the subjects are enumerated, to bicycles and similar vehicles, the manufacture of tea, railway material, lamps and burners, the treatment of metals, electrical contrivances, spinning and weaving machines, water-lifts and pumps, sugarcane and other mills, chemical appliances and preparations, improvement in building and building materials. But the subject of about half of the applications is not specified in the reports on the administration of the law.

Of the 695 applications for leave to file specifications presented in 1909, 506 were granted, 15 rejected, 28 were abandoned, and 146 were pending. Of the applications 238 were made by residents in India, of whom 74 were natives and 164 other residents. The remaining 457 came from outside India, distributed as follows: United Kingdom 253, United States of America 79, British Colonies 41, and other countries 84.

The total number of applications under the present Act of 1888 has been 10,205, and as the result 7,890 specifications were filed and brought on the register up to the end of 1909. The number of patents in force at the end of 1909 was 2,699.

The applications for registering copyright in designs are relatively very small—there were only 51 in 1909. Of the 51 applications made, 37 were registered, 22 of them being from residents in India. The number of applications since the Act came into force has been 855.

The income from fees received during the year aggregated R66,201; of this amount the sum of R42,200 represented continuance fees, by payment of which existing privileges are kept in force.

FOREIGN TRADE AND SHIPPING

[TABLES 1 TO 23, PAGES 4 TO 40]

These tables, which include imports and exports on account of the Government, exhibit, for various periods extending in many cases back to 1834-35, the progress of the foreign sea-borne trade of India generally, and of each province separately, in the principal articles of trade, and with the principal foreign countries; also the progress of shipping. They thus supplement the annual accounts of the foreign trade which exhibit the progress of the trade for only five years.

The following statement shows the rate of increase in the imports and exports (including re-exports) given in Table No. 1, the trade of the year 1834-35 being taken as 100 :—

MERCHANDISE MARKS

(Compiled from the provincial maritime trade reports)

The Indian Merchandise Marks Act (IV of 1889) was passed in 1889, but its operation in the earlier years was restricted, especially in Calcutta, in consequence of the lack of adequate Customs machinery for the examination of goods. In 1894, with the introduction of the present tariff, the Customs staff was strengthened for the examination of goods for assessment to duty, and this increase enabled examination to be made at the same time for the purposes of the Merchandise Marks Act.

The Act was intended originally to prevent the fraudulent sale of goods bearing false trade marks or false trade descriptions (as of origin, quality, weight, or quantity). While the Act was before the Legislature a provision was added to require that all piece goods should be stamped with their length in yards. In this respect these goods are an exception, for the Act does not require that other descriptions of goods should be stamped or marked, though it requires that when goods are marked the marks must be a correct description.

The number of detentions under the Act during the twenty years ending 1910-11 has been :

Average of the five years ending				1895-96	1,193
"	"	"	"	1900-01	1,543
"	"	"	"	1905-06	1,157
"	"	"	"	1910-11	1,632

Detention is but rarely followed by confiscation, and there have been only 127 such cases during the stated twenty years. Usually, detained goods are released with a fine, and this procedure was followed in 17,979 cases out of the 27,626 detentions ordered in the same period. In 9,500 cases the detained goods were released without the infliction of a fine.

In this period of twenty years 43 per cent of the detentions were on account of the application of false trade marks or false trade descriptions. In 33 per cent of the cases detention was ordered because the country of origin was either not stated or was falsely stated, and in 24 per cent, because the provisions of the Act for the stamping of piece goods had been infringed.

FREIGHTS

(Compiled from the Prices Current of the Chambers of Commerce.)

The table has been constructed for the purpose of showing the course of freight charges during the last twenty-five years for the conveyance from India to the United Kingdom, viâ, Suez Canal, of the articles which comprise the great bulk of the export trade.

The data presented state the minimum rate obtaining in the month in which the largest quantity of a given commodity is known to be ordinarily shipped. For rice and cotton the figures represent the rates in January, for wheat in May, for linseed (Calcutta) in June, for tea in August, for Jute in October, and for seeds (Bombay) in December. The rates under Calcutta are quoted, from the "Calcutta Price Current" of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, those under Bombay from the "Current Quotations" of the Bombay Chamber of Commerce, and those under Karachi from the "Karachi Price Current" of the Karachi Chamber of Commerce.

There have been great fluctuations in freight rates, but on the whole, the general tendency has been in the downward direction. As the facilities for trade offered by the Canal made themselves more apparent from year to year, the stimulus to shipowners to build more vessels, especially adapted for canal traffic, became more accentuated, and increased competition for cargo was followed by a reduction in rates. Since 1898 freights appear to have been on a permanently lower level, and in the case of Bombay and Karachi have never exceeded £1 per ton. Freights in 1908 were, as a whole, abnormally low; but in the next year they hardened somewhat except the rate for tea at Calcutta which kept the preceding year's level and that for cotton at Bombay which fell by 6*d*. In 1910 there was a further stiffening by 6*d*. to 5*s*. 6*d*. per ton, except in the rates for linseed and tea at Calcutta and for seeds at Bombay which maintained the previous year's level. In 1911 the rates fell by 6*d*. to 1*s*. 6*d*. per ton in the case of rice and wheat at Calcutta, and cotton and wheat at Bombay; but advanced by 1*s*. 6*d*. to 6*s*. 3*d*. per ton for linseed and jute at Calcutta, seeds at Bombay and wheat and seeds at Karachi. The rate for tea remained unaltered.

(Figures supplied by the Port Officer and Registrar of Wrecks, Calcutta)

This table exhibits the number of British, British Indian, and native vessels which were totally lost in Indian waters (from Suez to Penang), the total tonnage of vessels wrecked, and the number of lives lost, in the past twenty-five years.

The number and tonnage of each class of vessels annually lost from 1877 and the proportion which the number and tonnage bear to the number and tonnage of vessels that cleared from Indian ports, are approximately as follows :—

61 vessels were totally lost in 1910, of which 5 were British, one foreign, 40 British Indian, and 15 native craft.

The causes of exceptional loss of life in certain years are stated below—

1876. 400 pilgrims perished in the Hydari, bound from Calcutta to Jeddah.

1879. Continuous bad weather, and a cyclone, on the west coast of India in May.

1885. The Speke Hall foundered (58 lives lost) in the Gulf of Aden; and three vessels were wrecked (239 lives lost) during cyclone in the Bay of Bengal and on the east coast of Arabia.

1887. The Sir John Lawrence foundered (750 lives lost) at the mouth of the Hooghly in a cyclone.

1888. The Vitarna (800 lives lost), wrecked off the Káthiawár coast in a cyclone.

1891. Four vessels were wrecked in a cyclone in the Bay of Bengal.

1892. The Deccan foundered (214 lives lost) in the Indian Ocean.

1896. The Luna was wrecked (75 lives lost) in the Gulf of Aden.

1902. The Camorta was wrecked (781 lives lost) on the Burma Coast.

1905. The Hashemi foundered (74 lives lost) off the south Orissa coast in a cyclone.

JOINT-STOCK COMPANIES

[TABLES NOS. 1 TO 7, PAGES 49 TO 73.]

(Compiled from the provincial reports on the working of the Indian Companies Act, VI of 1882, the annual lists of joint-stock companies furnished by the Registrars, and special returns of companies with sterling capital received from the managers or agents, the Indian Tea Association, and the Railway Board)

Tables Nos. 1 to 6 relate exclusively to joint-stock companies registered in British India under the Indian Companies Act, VI of 1882, and in the Mysore State under the Mysore Companies, Regulation, III of 1895. They do not include the numerous and large companies which, while carrying on business in India, are registered in other countries and have their capital in money other than Indian. Such companies of this latter class, as work wholly or mainly in India, are shewn in table No. 7. All the companies registered in India have a rupee capital with the exception of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation which was registered in Calcutta in 1869 with a capital in Hongkong dollars of which the rupee equivalent is stated.

The total number of companies, which have been registered in India under the law from the time it was passed, amounts to 5,913. Of these, 2,304 were working at the end of 1910-11, most of the others having been either wound up or otherwise discontinued or never having commenced business, so that about 61 per cent of the companies started have been failures. The companies that have ceased to work include a number of speculative gold-mining companies formed in Bengal some years ago and a considerable number of "provident" associations formed in the last few years in the same province. Some companies have also been taken off the Indian register, to be reconstructed as companies under the English law with their head offices in London.

During the year 245 new companies with a nominal, issued nominal, and issued paid-up capital of ₹44,63,00,525, ₹75,58,183, and ₹45,94,115 respectively were registered, and 157 companies with a nominal, issued nominal, and issued paid-up capital of ₹5,18,19,822, ₹1,38,54,626, and ₹1,42,60,174 respectively ceased to work. The "issued paid-up capital" includes vendors' and other shares issued otherwise than for cash, but considered as paid-up.

In 1910-11 there was a net increase of 88 in the number of companies, of ₹39,99,19,465 in the nominal capital and of ₹2,59,89,661 in the paid-up capital. The nominal capital of 48 companies was increased by ₹99,00,312, issued nominal capital of 303 companies by ₹2,03,51,014 and the paid-up capital of 738 companies by ₹4,63,71,556. The nominal capital of 6 companies was reduced by ₹21,17,800, the issued nominal capital of 19 companies by ₹14,64,705 and the paid-up capital of 97 companies by ₹83,72,606, as shewn under :

At the close of 1910-11 the companies at work had an issued paid-up capital of R64,04,96,826; this was more by R2,59,89,661 than that of the preceding year. There has been an increase of 71·3 per cent in the paid-up capital in the last ten years.

About 75 per cent of the capital invested in joint-stock enterprise is concentrated in companies registered in Bengal and Bombay. Bengal has R25,44,20,736 being 39·7 per cent and Bombay R22,76,16,650 being 35·3 per cent of the whole. Thereafter but a long way behind comes Madras with a capital of R4,72,11,250 being 7·4 per cent of the whole.

Nearly half—about R28,00,00,000—of the aggregate capital is invested in mills and presses, chiefly for working or pressing cotton, jute, wool, and silk. This capital has increased 50 per cent in the last ten years. A great number of the mills and presses are registered in Bombay, that presidency representing about 50 per cent of this sum, most of it invested in cotton mills and presses. Mills and presses (mainly jute) registered in Bengal represent only about half of the capital invested in mills and presses in Bombay.

Trading companies account for nearly R12,47,00,000, of which not much, nearly a third (R3,72,84,298 or 30 per cent), is invested in railways and tramways. The companies for the working of these lines are mainly the creation of the last fourteen years.

In tea, coffee, and other plantations, R3,81,00,000 are invested, of which nearly 89 per cent is held in Bengal, most of the tea companies being registered in Calcutta. The capital invested in tea (over R3,53,00,000) increased by 2 per cent in the last decade. The rupee capital is about one-sixth of the sterling capital invested in this industry.

Banking, loan, and insurance companies account for R8,21,00,000, of which 34 per cent is in companies registered in Bengal and 22 per cent in Madras. The capital of banking and loan companies has increased by nearly 110 per cent in the last ten years. It includes R2,75,66,437, being the capital of the sixteen joint-stock banks shewn in table No. 1 and R2,43,75,000 for the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank which is included in table No. 2 of the section relating to Banks.

The capital of mining and quarrying companies is R9,03,00,000, of which 65 per cent is invested in companies registered in Bengal, most of it representing capital invested in coal mines. The capital invested in coal companies has nearly quadrupled in the decade.

The average capital of each company is highest in Bengal, where it amounts to R4,47,924, the average of Bombay being R3,99,327. The average of the 465 companies registered in Madras is only R1,01,530, the reason being found in the extremely large application of the Companies Act to the business of small money lenders, for no less than 263 out of the 492 "banking and loan" companies in all India are registered in Madras with a paid-up capital of R1,82,48,398.

It should be noted that the capital stated above represents share capital only, while several companies have issued debentures, the total value of which at the close of the half-year ending December 1911 amounted to R8,19,00,000, of which R4,80,00,000 belongs to Bengal, R2,93,00,000 to Bombay, and R24,00,000 to Madras. The value of cotton mill debentures was R2,27,65,191, of jute mill debentures R3,74,09,870 and of paper mill debentures R15,07,650.

There were 427 companies limited by guarantee at the close of the year 1909-10. Of these 89 ceased to work and 12 new companies were registered during the year 1910-11, giving a net total of 350 companies at work on the 31st March 1911.

The fees realised during 1910-11 were R80,513 and the expenditure, including refunds of R1,008 in Bombay, was R4,888.

Table No. 7 shews the number, description, and capital of companies which are registered elsewhere than in India, but which carry on work exclusively, or nearly so, in India, mostly with sterling capital. The list has been made complete, as far as practicable, and the total number of such companies is 363 and the paid-up capital amounts to £77,704,996 besides £49,216,648 as debentures. The Railways represent £38,906,906 paid-up capital and £43,785,278 debentures. Of the rest, the sterling share capital invested in the tea industry is £14,209,315, in jute mills £2,453,894, in cotton mills £763,521, and in rice mills £2,222,725. The gold fields in Southern India are mostly worked by companies formed in the United Kingdom, the paid-up sterling capital being £2,951,621.

BANKING CAPITAL IN INDIA

BANKS OF DEPOSIT, EXCHANGE, AND DISCOUNT

[TABLES 1 AND 2, PAGES 76 TO 78]

(Figures supplied by the Banks)

The statistics indicating the progress of these institutions were collected for the first time in 1900, and were therefore necessarily limited to the banks then in existence and at work. The figures for former years are defective in that they do not include the facts relating to banks which had passed out of existence, or ceased to do business in India, before the statistics were first collected. The unavoidable omission of such banks makes the increase of capital in 1901 over the capital in the former years of the series seem larger than it really was, and it is necessary to bear this in mind when drawing inferences from the recorded increase of capital and deposits. The following table states, with possibly some imperfections and omissions, the banks thus excluded :

	Year of establishment	Year of liquidation		Capital in the last year of the Bank's existence
Indian Joint-stock Banks—				₹
Bank of Calcutta, Ld.	—	1872		10,00,000
United Bank of India, Ld. (Simla)	—	1874		5,00,000
Panjab Bank, Ld. (Rawalpindi)	1862	1877		20,00,000
Simla Banking Corporation, Ld.	1860	1887		8,45,000
Uncovenanted Service Bank	1861	1890-91		6,00,000
Exchange Banks—				£
New Oriental Bank	1885	1893		600,540
Agra Bank	1833	1900	Reserve fund	600,000 20,000
Credit Lyonnais	1896	1900*	Reserve fund	8,000,000 2,000,000

The figures in table No. 1 are for the three Presidency Banks (Bengal, Bombay, and Madras) and for the undermentioned joint-stock Banks, their head offices being located in India—

Figures are stated for the three Presidency banks for the whole period, and for the other banks from the year stated against their names. The compilation was first made in 1900, and hence several other banks existing in 1870 or subsequently started, which had passed out of existence, were omitted, as particulars regarding their deposits and cash balances were not procurable. A list of the principal banks thus excluded is given above.

The figures in table No. 2 are for the joint-stock Banks known as Exchange Banks whose head offices are located elsewhere than in India, namely—

Russo-Asiatic Bank (formerly Russo-Chinese Bank)	„	1903
Eastern Bank	„	1910

As in table No. 1 figures are stated for each bank from the date mentioned against it. A list of the banks, which do not appear owing to their having ceased to exist before the compilation of the table in 1900, will be found above.

[It may be noted that from these tables are excluded, firstly, banks of deposit which, though doing business on western methods, do not possess a minimum of five lakhs of rupees of paid-up capital and reserve fund combined, and, secondly, the numerous small money-lending and pawn-broking establishments which are registered annually as "banks" under the Indian Companies Act.]

The share capital of the banks, whose head offices are located in India and which are exclusively Indian, increased by 41·1 per cent in the last ten years. Adding to the capital the reserves, in which the increase was much larger than the increase in capital, the increase in both combined was 49·3 per cent in the decade. The capital and reserves of the joint-stock Banks, apart from the Presidency Banks, increased in the decade by 166·4 per cent, the increase in capital being 204 per cent and in the reserves 98 per cent. The amount of the capital and reserves at the end of 1910 was about R38 millions=£2,508,000.

The deposits in the Indian Banks increased by 130·2 per cent in the same period, amounting to about R(22 millions (over £41 millions) at the end of 1910. These figures include "public" (that is, Government) deposits in the Presidency Banks. Excluding these, ordinary deposits in the Indian Banks in 1910 amounted to R580 millions (£38,668,000), having increased in the decade at the rate of 145·4 per cent. These deposits are to the capital and reserves of the same banks in the ratio of 6 to 1. Excluding the Presidency Banks, as in the preceding paragraph, relating to share capital and reserves, the deposits in the joint-stock Banks increased in the decade from 90·01 millions of rupees to 256·58 millions, being at the rate of 185 per cent.

The deposits in the Indian branches of the Exchange Banks increased in the ten years ending 1910 by 105·5 per cent.

The extent to which bank deposits have increased in the ten years, and the proportions in which they are lodged in the different classes of banks, are shown in the figures below. These figures exclude Government deposits in the Presidency Banks, and, for the Exchange Banks, are limited to deposits in India:

	1901	1910
Presidency Banks	14,63,67,696	32,34,38,210
Exchange Banks	11,83,10,329	24,31,01,521
Other joint-stock Banks	9,00,14,172	25,65,84,761
TOTAL	35,46,92,197	82,31,24,492

It therefore appears that capital deposited in the banks, and thus made available for the financing of commercial and industrial operations, has increased from 3,547 lakhs to 8,231 lakhs—say from about £23,646,000 to £54,875,000—being at the rate of 132·1 per cent. The deposits in the Presidency Banks have increased in a greater proportion than the deposits in the other classes of banks, representing the largest share of the aggregate deposits in 1910, the relative proportions being: the Presidency Banks, 39·2 per cent; the Exchange Banks, 29·6 per cent; and the joint-stock Banks, 31·2 per cent.

CO-OPERATIVE CREDIT SOCIETIES

[TABLES 1 TO 3, PAGES 80 TO 83]

(Compiled from the statements appended to the Proceedings of the Conference of Registrars of Co-operative Credit Societies and from Provincial Reports)

The Co-operative Credit Societies Act was passed on the 25th March 1904 to "encourage thrift, self-help, and co-operation among agriculturists, artisans, and persons of limited means." There are two classes of Societies distinguished as Urban and Rural: an urban society is defined as a society in which not less than four-fifths of the members shall be non-agriculturists, and a rural society as a society in which not less than four-fifths of the members shall be agriculturists. Each society consists of ten or more members above the age of eighteen years residing in the same town or village or in the same group of villages, or belonging to the same tribe, class, or caste.

The following table compares the position of registered societies in British India in 1910-11 and in the four preceding years :—

It was stated in reviewing the statistics for 1908-09 that, with the single exception of Ajmer, where the movement showed no vitality, the progress made in all other provinces was highly satisfactory. Both in 1909-10 and in 1910-11 the progress was exceedingly encouraging in all the provinces.

Mysore is the only Native State from which statistics relating to co-operative credit societies are received and the figures are shown separately in the tables.

(Compiled from the annual reports of the Patent Office and the weekly notifications published in the Gazette of India)

The laws for granting exclusive privileges to inventors and for protecting patterns and designs were amended and consolidated by the passing of the Inventions and Designs Act, V of 1888. The statistics printed in this section summarise the working of the law for the last ten years.

The inventions for the use of which exclusive privileges have been sought or acquired during recent years relate in the main, so far as the subjects are enumerated, to bicycles and similar vehicles, the manufacture of tea, railway material, lamps and burners, the treatment of metals, electrical contrivances, spinning and weaving machines, water-lifts and pumps, sugarcane and other mills, chemical appliances and preparations, improvement in building and building materials. But the subject of about half of the applications is not specified in the reports on the administration of the law.

Of the 667 applications for leave to file specifications presented in 1910, 493 were granted, 10 rejected, 26 were abandoned, and 138 were pending. Of the applications 199 were made by residents in India, of whom 62 were Indians and 137 other residents. The remaining 468 came from outside India, distributed as follows: United Kingdom 254, United States of America 49, British Colonies 67, and other countries 98.

The total number of applications under the present Act of 1888 has been 10,872, and as the result 8,508 specifications were filed and brought on the register up to the end of 1910. The number of patents in force at the end of 1910 was 2,822.

The applications for registering copyright in designs are relatively very small—there were only 36 in 1910. Of the 36 applications made, 26 were registered, 4 of them being from residents in India. The number of applications since the Act came into force has been 891.

The income from fees received during the year aggregated R67,128; of this amount the sum of R39,450 represented continuance fees, by payment of which existing privileges are kept in force.

NOTICE.

In the sections relating to "Joint-Stock Companies" and "Co-operative Credit Societies" the figures for 1911-12 refer to the newly constituted provinces of Assam, Bengal, and Bihar and Orissa, although the reconstitution was made with effect from 1st April 1912. On the other hand, the section relating to "Foreign Trade" shows, for all the years, figures for the old provinces of Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal, as they stood prior to the territorial redistribution of April 1912.

FOREIGN TRADE AND SHIPPING

[TABLES 1 TO 23, PAGES 4 TO 40]

These tables, which include imports and exports on account of the Government, exhibit, for various periods extending in many cases back to 1834-35, the progress of the foreign sea-borne trade of India generally, and of each province separately, in the principal articles of trade, and with the principal foreign countries; also the progress of shipping. They thus supplement the annual accounts of the foreign trade which exhibit the progress of the trade for only five years.

The following statement shows the rate of increase in the imports and exports (including re-exports) given in Table No. 1, the trade of the year 1834-35 being taken as 100 :—

* The head Native craft has been sub-divided into "British," "British Indian" and "Foreign" from April 1906. Previous to that month the sub-divisions were only "British Indian" and "Foreign Indian." No comparison can therefore be made between the figures for 1906-07 and those for previous years.

†That is, Foreign vessels not square-rigged. In the years previous to 1906-07 these were shown under the different countries to which they belonged

(Compiled from the provincial maritime trade reports)

The Indian Merchandise Marks Act (IV of 1889) was passed in 1889, but its operation in the earlier years was restricted, especially in Calcutta, in consequence of the lack of adequate Customs machinery for the examination of goods. In 1894, with the introduction of the present tariff, the Customs staff was strengthened for the examination of goods for assessment to duty, and this increase enabled examination to be made at the same time for the purposes of the Merchandise Marks Act.

The Act was intended originally to prevent the fraudulent sale of goods bearing false trade marks or false trade descriptions (as of origin, quality, weight, or quantity). While the Act was before the Legislature a provision was added to require that all piece goods should be stamped with their length in yards. In this respect these goods are an exception, for the Act does not require that other descriptions of goods should be stamped or marked, though it requires that when goods are marked the marks must be a correct description.

The number of detentions under the Act during the twenty years ending 1911-12 has been :

Average of the five years ending				1896-97	1,326
"	"	"	"	1901-02	1,475
"	"	"	"	1906-07	1,139
"	"	"	"	1911-12	1,788

Detention is but rarely followed by confiscation, and there have been only 123 such cases during the stated twenty years. Usually, detained goods are released with a fine, and this procedure was followed in 18,682 cases out of the 28,636 detentions ordered in the same period. In 9,812 cases the detained goods were released without the infliction of a fine.

In this period of twenty years 44 per cent of the detentions were on account of the application of false trade marks or false trade descriptions. In 33 per cent of the cases detention was ordered because the country of origin was either not stated or was falsely stated, and in 23 per cent, because the provisions of the Act for the stamping of piece goods had been infringed.

FREIGHTS

(Compiled from the Prices Current of the Chambers of Commerce)

The table has been constructed for the purpose of showing the course of freight charges during the last twenty-five years for the conveyance from India to the United Kingdom, viâ Suez Canal, of the articles which comprise the great bulk of the export trade.

The data presented state the minimum rate obtaining in the month in which the largest quantity of a given commodity is known to be ordinarily shipped. For rice (Rangoon) the figures represent the rates in March, for rice (Calcutta) and cotton in January, for wheat in May, for linseed (Calcutta) in June, for tea in August, for Jute in October, and for seeds (Bombay) in December. The rates under Rangoon are open chartered rates, obtained from private sources; those under Calcutta are quoted from the "Calcutta Price Current" of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce; those under Bombay from the "Current Quotations" of the Bombay Chamber of Commerce; and those under Karachi from the "Karachi Price Current" of the Karachi Chamber of Commerce.

There have been great fluctuations in freight rates, but on the whole, the general tendency has been in the downward direction. As the facilities for trade offered by the Canal made themselves more apparent from year to year, the stimulus to shipowners to build more vessels, especially adapted for canal traffic, became more accentuated, and increased competition for cargo was followed by a reduction in rates. Freights in 1908 were, as a whole, abnormally low; but in the next year they hardened somewhat except the rate for tea at Calcutta which kept the preceding year's level and that for cotton at Bombay which fell by 6*d*. In 1910 there was a further stiffening by 6*d*. to 5*s*. 6*d*. per ton, except in the rates for linseed and tea at Calcutta and for seeds at Bombay which maintained the previous year's level. In 1911 the rates fell by 6*d*. to 1*s*. 6*d*. per ton in the case of rice and wheat at Calcutta, and cotton and wheat at Bombay; but advanced by 1*s*. 6*d*. to 6*s*. 3*d*. per ton for linseed and jute at Calcutta, seeds at Bombay and wheat and seeds at Karachi. The rate for tea remained unaltered. In 1912 there was a general advance in the rates, the increase being marked in the case of rice, wheat, and linseed at Calcutta, seeds at Bombay, and rice at Rangoon.

(Figures supplied by the Port Officer and Registrar of Wrecks, Calcutta)

This table exhibits the number of British, British Indian, and native vessels which were totally lost in Indian waters (from Suez to Penang), the total tonnage of vessels wrecked, and the number of lives lost, in the past twenty-five years.

The number and tonnage of each class of vessels annually lost from 1877 and the proportion which the number and tonnage bear to the number and tonnage of vessels that cleared from Indian ports, are approximately as follows :—

71 vessels were totally lost in 1911, of which 4 were British, one foreign, 47 British Indian, and 18 native craft (excluding 1 Arabian craft).

The causes of exceptional loss of life in certain years are stated below—

1876. 400 pilgrims perished in the Hydari, bound from Calcutta to Jeddah.

1879. Continuous bad weather, and a cyclone, on the west coast of India in May.

1885. The Speke Hall foundered (58 lives lost) in the Gulf of Aden; and three vessels were wrecked (239 lives lost) during cyclone in the Bay of Bengal and on the east coast of Arabia.

1887. The Sir John Lawrence foundered (750 lives lost) at the mouth of the Hooghly in a cyclone.

1888. The Vitarna (800 lives lost), wrecked off the Káthiawár coast in a cyclone.

1891. Four vessels were wrecked in a cyclone in the Bay of Bengal.

1892. The Deccan foundered (214 lives lost) in the Indian Ocean.

1896. The Luna was wrecked (75 lives lost) in the Gulf of Aden.

1902. The Camorta was wrecked (781 lives lost) on the Burma Coast.

1905. The Hashemi foundered (74 lives lost) off the south Orissa coast in a cyclone.

1911. The Fifeshire was wrecked (24 lives lost) in the Gulf of Aden.

JOINT-STOCK COMPANIES

[TABLES 1 TO 7, PAGES 49 TO 73.]

(Compiled from the provincial reports on the working of the Indian Companies Act, VI of 1882, the annual lists of joint-stock companies furnished by the Registrars, and special returns of companies with sterling capital received from the managers or agents, the Indian Tea Association, and the Railway Board)

Tables Nos. 1 to 6 relate exclusively to joint-stock companies registered in British India under the Indian Companies Act, VI of 1882, and in the Mysore State under the Mysore Companies Regulation, III of 1895. They do not include the numerous and large companies which, while carrying on business in India, are registered in other countries and have their capital in money other than Indian. Such companies of this latter class, as work wholly or mainly in India, are shewn in table No. 7. All the companies registered in India have a rupee capital with the exception of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation which was registered in Calcutta in 1869 with a capital in Hongkong dollars of which the rupee equivalent is stated.

The total number of companies, which have been registered in India under the law from the time it was passed, amounts to 6,247. Of these, 2,464 were working at the end of 1911-12, most of the others having been either wound up or otherwise discontinued or never having commenced business, so that about 61 per cent of the companies started have been failures. The companies that have ceased to work include a number of speculative gold-mining companies formed in Bengal some years ago and a considerable number of "provident" associations formed in the last few years in the same province. Some companies have also been taken off the Indian register, to be reconstructed as companies under the English law with their head offices in London.

During the year 334 new companies with a nominal, issued nominal, and issued paid-up capital of R9,02,88,275, R35,99,244, and R24,44,227 respectively were registered, and 175 companies with a nominal, issued nominal, and issued paid-up capital of R4,93,95,071, R1,94,57,372, and R1,50,91,234 respectively ceased to work. The "issued paid-up capital" includes vendors' and other shares issued otherwise than for cash, but considered as paid-up.

In 1911-12 there was a net increase of 159 in the number of companies, of R4,74,33,672 in the nominal capital and of R5,32,71,903 in the paid-up capital. There was a sudden and remarkable increase in the number of insurance companies from 80 to 182, mainly in Bengal and the Punjab, which is attributed to the introduction in Council of the Insurance Companies Bill. It is believed that to avoid for some time the payment of deposit money, as stipulated in the Bill, a large number of insurance companies were registered just before the passing of the Indian Life Assurance Act (VI of 1912). The nominal capital of 49 companies was increased by R78,90,468, the issued nominal capital of 553 companies by R7,87,46,827 and the paid-up capital of 740 companies by R6,69,65,269. The nominal capital of 7 companies was reduced by R15,50,000, the issued nominal capital of 19 companies by R21,05,837, and the paid-up capital of 79 companies by R11,09,118, as shewn under:

At the close of 1911-12 the companies at work had an issued paid-up capital of R69,37,68,729; this was more by R5,32,71,903 than that of the preceding year. There has been an increase of 82·2 per cent in the paid-up capital in the last ten years.

About 77 per cent of the capital invested in joint-stock enterprise is concentrated in companies registered in Bengal and Bombay. Bengal has R26,66,32,634 being 38·4 per cent and Bombay R26,78,52,519 being 38·6 per cent of the whole. Thereafter but a long way behind comes Madras with a capital of R4,84,23,041 being 7 per cent of the whole.

Nearly half—about R28,00,00,000—of the aggregate capital is invested in mills and presses, chiefly for working or pressing cotton, jute, wool, and silk. This capital has increased 45 per cent in the last ten years. A great number of the mills and presses are registered in Bombay, that presidency representing about 50 per cent of this sum, most of it invested in cotton mills and presses. Mills and presses (mainly jute) registered in Bengal represent two-thirds of the capital invested in mills and presses in Bombay.

Trading companies account for nearly R15,93,00,000, of which nearly a third (R6,00,94,118 or 38 per cent) is invested in railways and tramways. The companies for the working of these lines are mainly the creation of the last fifteen years.

In tea, coffee, and other plantations, R4,00,00,000 are invested, of which nearly 89 per cent is held in Bengal, most of the tea companies being registered in Calcutta. The capital invested in tea (over R3,62,00,000) increased by 4 per cent in the last decade. This rupee capital is about one-sixth of the sterling capital invested in this industry.

Banking, loan, and insurance companies account for R8,22,00,000, of which 35 per cent is in companies registered in Bengal and 23 per cent in Madras. The capital of banking and loan companies has increased by nearly 113 per cent in the last ten years. It includes R2,85,60,071, being the capital of the eighteen joint-stock banks shewn in table No. 1 and R2,43,75,000 for the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank which is included in table No. 2 of the section relating to Banks.

The capital of mining and quarrying companies is R10,50,00,000, of which 56 per cent is invested in companies registered in Bengal, most of it representing capital invested in coal mines. The capital invested in coal companies has nearly tripled in the decade.

The average capital of each company is highest in Bombay, where it amounts to R4,65,830, the average of Bengal being R3,57,896. The average of the 437 companies registered in Madras is only R1,10,808, the reason being found in the extremely large application of the Companies Act to the business of small money lenders, for no less than 239 out of the 491 " banking and loan " companies in all India are registered in Madras with a paid-up capital of R1,81,42,867.

It should be noted that the capital stated above represents share capital only, while several companies have issued debentures, the total value of which at the close of the half-year ending December 1912 amounted to R9,00,72,900, of which R5,21,00,000 belongs to Bengal, R3,33,00,000 to Bombay, and R23,50,000 to Madras. The value of cotton mill debentures was R2,39,72,091, of jute mill debentures R3,84,60,870 and of paper mill debentures R15,07,650.

There were 350 companies limited by guarantee at the close of the year 1910-11. Of these 64 ceased to work and 12 new companies were registered during the year 1911-12, giving a net total of 298 companies at work on the 31st March 1912.

The fees realised during 1911-12 were R78,450 and the expenditure was R4,381.

Table No. 7 shews the number, description, and capital of companies which are registered elsewhere than in India, but which carry on work exclusively, or nearly so, in India, mostly with sterling capital. The list has been made complete, as far as practicable, and the total number of such companies is 373 and the paid-up capital amounts to £77,979,044 besides £45,352,911 as debentures. The Railways represent £35,905,906 paid-up capital and £40,370,978 debentures. Of the rest, the sterling share capital invested in the tea industry is £14,964,574, in jute mills £2,453,894, in cotton mills £772,274, and in rice mills £2,106,475. The gold fields in Southern India are mostly worked by companies formed in the United Kingdom, the paid-up sterling capital being £2,835,511.

BANKING CAPITAL IN INDIA

BANKS OF DEPOSIT, EXCHANGE, AND DISCOUNT

[TABLES 1 AND 2, PAGES 76 TO 78]

(Figures supplied by the Banks)

The statistics indicating the progress of these institutions were collected for the first time in 1900, and were therefore necessarily limited to the banks then in existence and at work. The figures for former years are defective in that they do not include the facts relating to banks which had passed out of existence, or ceased to do business in India, before the statistics were first collected. The unavoidable omission of such banks makes the increase of capital in 1901 over the capital in the former years of the series seem larger than it really was, and it is necessary to bear this in mind when drawing inferences from the recorded increase of capital and deposits. The following table states, with possibly some imperfections and omissions, the banks thus excluded :

	Year of establishment	Year of liquidation		Capital in the last year of the Bank's existence

The figures in table No. 1 are for the three Presidency Banks (Bengal, Bombay, and Madras) and for the undermentioned joint-stock Banks, their head offices being located in India—

Bank of India, Ld.	„	1906	Credit Bank of India, Ld.	„	1911

Figures are stated for the three Presidency banks for the whole period, and for the other banks from the year stated against their names. The compilation was first made in 1900, and hence several other banks existing in 1870 or subsequently started, which had passed out of existence, were omitted, as particulars regarding their deposits and cash balances were not procurable. A list of the principal banks thus excluded is given above.

The figures in table No. 2 are for the joint-stock Banks known as Exchange Banks whose head offices are located elsewhere than in India, namely—

Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China	from	1870	Yokohama Specie Bank	from	1894
Delhi and London Bank	„	1870	Deutsch-Asiatische Bank	„	1897
Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation	„	1870	International Banking Corporation	„	1903
National Bank of India	„	1877	Russo-Asiatic Bank (formerly Russo-Chinese Bank)	„	1903
Comptoir National d'Escompte de Paris†	„	1889	Eastern Bank	„	1910
Mercantile Bank of India	„	1893	Cox and Company's Bank	„	1910

As in table No. 1-figures are stated for each bank from the date mentioned against it. A list of the banks, which do not appear owing to their having ceased to exist before the compilation of the table in 1900, will be found above.

[It may be noted that from these tables are excluded, firstly, banks of deposit which, though doing business on western methods, do not possess a minimum of five lakhs of rupees of paid-up capital and reserve fund combined, and, secondly, the numerous small money-lending and pawn-broking establishments which are registered annually as "banks" under the Indian Companies Act.]

The share capital of the banks, whose head offices are located in India and which are exclusively Indian, increased by 43·1 per cent in the last ten years. Adding to the capital the reserves, in which the increase was much larger than the increase in capital, the increase in both combined was 52·1 per cent in the decade. The capital and reserves of the joint-stock Banks, apart from the Presidency Banks, increased in the decade by 184·8 per cent, the increase in capital being 213 per cent and in the reserves 136 per cent. The amount of the capital and reserves at the end of 1911 was about R41 millions=£2,748,000.

The deposits in the Indian Banks increased by 102·5 per cent in the same period, amounting to about R639 millions (over £42 millions) at the end of 1911. These figures include "public" (that is, Government) deposits in the Presidency Banks. Excluding these, ordinary deposits in the Indian Banks in 1911 amounted to R595 millions (£39,661,000), having increased in the decade at the rate of 111·7 per cent. These deposits are to the capital and reserves of the same banks in the ratio of 5 to 1. Excluding the Presidency Banks, as in the preceding paragraph relating to share capital and reserves, the deposits in the joint-stock Banks increased in the decade from 104·39 millions of rupees to 252·91 millions, being at the rate of 142 per cent.

The deposits in the Indian branches of the Exchange Banks increased in the ten years ending 1911 by 105·6 per cent.

The extent to which bank deposits have increased in the ten years, and the proportions in which they are lodged in the different classes of banks, are shown in the figures below. These figures exclude Government deposits in the Presidency Banks, and, for the Exchange Banks, are limited to deposits in India:

	1902 R	1911 R
Presidency Banks	17,66,09,177	34,19,98,885
Exchange Banks	13,70,09,736	28,16,89,740
Other joint-stock Banks	10,43,89,857	25,29,11,059
TOTAL	41,80,08,770	87,65,99,684

It therefore appears that capital deposited in the banks, and thus made available for the financing of commercial and industrial operations, has increased from 4,180 lakhs to 8,766 lakhs—say from about £27,867,000 to £58,440,000—being at the rate of 109·7 per cent. The deposits in the Presidency Banks have increased in a greater proportion than the deposits in the other classes of banks, representing the largest share of the aggregate deposits in 1911, the relative proportions being: the Presidency Banks, 39 per cent; the Exchange Banks, 32·1 per cent; and the joint-stock Banks, 28·9 per cent.

CO-OPERATIVE CREDIT SOCIETIES

[TABLES 1 TO 3, PAGES 80 TO 85]

(Compiled from the statements appended to the Proceedings of the Conference of Registrars of Co-operative Credit Societies and from Provincial Reports)

The Co-operative Credit Societies Act X of 1904 was passed on the 25th March 1904 to "encourage thrift, self-help, and co-operation among agriculturists, artisans, and persons of limited means." In March 1912 this Act was repealed by the Co-operative Societies Act (Act II of 1912). There are two classes of Societies distinguished as Urban and Rural: an urban society is defined as a society in which not less than four-fifths of the members shall be non-agriculturists, and a rural society as a society in which not less than four-fifths of the members shall be agriculturists. Each society consists of ten or more members above the age of eighteen years residing in the same town or village or in the same group of villages, or belonging to the same tribe, class, or caste.

The following table compares the position of registered societies in 1911-12 and in the four preceding years in all the provinces in British India except the North-West Frontier Province and Baluchistan; in the former the movement has as yet made little progress, while in the case of the latter it has not yet been thought expedient to apply the Act:—

It was stated in reviewing the statistics for 1908-09 that, with the single exception of Ajmer, where the movement showed no vitality, the progress made in all other provinces was highly satisfactory. In 1909-10, 1910-11 and 1911-12 the progress was exceedingly encouraging in all the provinces.

Mysore and Baroda are the only Native States in which Co-operative Societies exist, but no returns are received from Baroda; the figures for Mysore, so far as available, are shown in the tables separately from the statistics for British provinces.

(Compiled from the annual reports of the Patent Office and the weekly notifications published in the Gazette of India)

The laws for granting exclusive privileges to inventors and for protecting patterns and designs were amended and consolidated by the passing of the Inventions and Designs Act,* V of 1888. The statistics printed in this table summarise the working of the law for the last ten years.

The inventions for the use of which exclusive privileges have been sought or acquired during recent years relate in the main, so far as the subjects are enumerated, to bicycles and similar vehicles, the manufacture of tea, railway material, lamps and burners, the treatment of metals, electrical contrivances, spinning and weaving machines, water-lifts and pumps, sugarcane and other mills, chemical appliances and preparations, improvement in building and building materials and in flying machines and talking machines. But the subject of about half of the applications is not specified in the reports on the administration of the law.

Of the 807 applications for leave to file specifications presented in 1911, 528 were granted, 15 rejected, 21 were abandoned, and 243 were pending. Of the applications 206 were made by residents in India, of whom 64 were Indians and 142 other residents. The remaining 601 came from outside India, distributed as follows: United Kingdom 337, United States of America 69, British Colonies 64, and other countries 131.

The total number of applications under the Act of 1888 has been 11,679, and as the result 9,113 specifications were filed and brought on the register up to the end of 1911. The number of patents in force at the end of 1911 was 2,917.

The applications for registering copyright in designs are relatively very small—there were 87 in 1911. Of the 87 applications made, 77 were registered, 23 of them being from residents in India. The number of applications since the Act came into force has been 978.

The income from fees received during the year aggregated R70,977; of this amount the sum of R42,100 represented continuance fees, by payment of which existing privileges are kept in force.
